

Lowering Prescription Drug Costs for Alaska

President Biden’s lower cost prescription drug law, the Inflation Reduction Act, contains policies that lower prescription drug costs for seniors and people with disabilities across Alaska:

Caps costs for covered insulin at $35 per month for people with Medicare

Makes recommended vaccines available at no cost for people with Medicare Part D

Enables Medicare to negotiate prices for certain prescription drugs

Requires drug companies to pay a rebate to Medicare if they raise prices faster than the rate of inflation

In January 2024, two new cost-saving Medicare Part D benefits went into effect:

The Extra Help program is expanding to provide more benefits for qualifying enrollees with limited income and assets

Some enrollees now have their out-of-pocket drug costs capped at about $3,500 in 2024, and in 2025, out-of-pocket costs will be lowered even more with a $2,000 cap
